Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

We have come again to one of those crises in our national life. We are damned if we do and we are damned if we don't. The irresistable force strikes the immovable mass. The freedom of the seas is again at stake, and that freedom is not only vital to the maintenance of an equal opportunity to all nations to prosper, but it is also in the long run vital to our, and to every nation's, security and to world peace.

Concensus of opinion attributes to Italy the present submarine piracy in the Mediterranean, and nine nations bordering on that historic sea are taking steps to stamp out this modern day barbarity that a hundred years ago was practiced by the pirates of Tunis and Algiers in the same waters. While in 1816 Stephen Decatur whipped the Algenine pirates and wrested indimnities for their injury to American shipping from the Bey of Tunis and the Pasha of Tripoli, one hundred and twenty years later no protest is made in Washington against this resumption of high seas banditry in the same area.

So long as Japan refuses to declare war against China, all her acts of aggression have the illegal status of piracy. The Chinese are fighting valiantly, on their own soil, against a tremendous invasion of Asiatic buccaneers. The Japanese assume arrogantly the right to make their own conditions not only with China but also with all the people that trade with China. British ships are stopped and searched. American warships are attacked, and American traders are denied the right to trade with a country with which legally Japan is at peace.

It will not escape the notice of all intelligent observers that piracy in the Mediterranean comes to the aid of piracy in the China Sea. One suppliments the other. It is the hope, without doubt, of Hitler and Mussolini that by creating the diversion in the Mediterranean, and of the Japanese military satraps by flouting all international law along the coast of China, to divide the world forces of democracy, so that divided, they may, if they choose war as an alternative, be defeated in one hemisphere or the other.

We strongly suspect that this is a trap set for the democratic governments. But we do not have to fall into it, and probably will not. If it really comes to showdown, Uncle Sam can take care of the situation in thhe Orient and John Bull and his French ally can curb scoundrelly dictators in Europe.

It may not be necessary to do more than to declare an embargo on all trade with Japan to put an effectual sniffer to the ambitions of the samurai who dictate there. This would meet with a tremendous protest on the part of all the industrial groups which now supply Japan with cotton, foodstuffs, steel and oil. It would mean the tightening of Uncle Sam's belt again, it would place us again in danger of regimentation, which many will fear more than the effect of national piracies.

But something must be done to restore to the world the sanctity of treaties, the order and justice of international law. It goes without saying, as has been proved in our own domestic sphere, that unless force is used to preserve law, lawless forces will destroy the social order. For instance we have in great measure and at great cost stamped out much of the criminal racketeering in this country. After suffering all manner of violence and paying millions in tribute, we finally found it necessary to exert major force in putting criminals behind bars or under the sod. This battle, of course, still goes forward.

We must take a resolute stand in world affairs or we shall become the prey of the desperate militarists who now menace our liberties and our rights. Whether there is anyone with the courage, the wisdom, and the foresight in the administration in Washington to define and maintain our rights in the present disturbed conditions, is something yet to be proved.

Perusing some of the exchanges that come into this office, the eye falls upon a letter to "The Mining and Contracting Review" written by Letson Balliet, E. M. The letter enunciates clearly the general principles and the abuses of mining pro-

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATION AT WASHBURN HOME

Scores of parishioners and friends crowded the Episcopal rectory in Grass Valley Saturday night celebrating with the Rev. and Mrs. Charles F. Washburn their silver wedding anniversary. The rectory was beautifully decorated with the many floral offerings which came from friends far and near. The rector and his wife were presented with many beautiful gifts during the evening, noteworthy among which were a toastmaster and tray presented by the Grass Valley Sportsmen's club. The following address was made by Ray Pengelly, acting for Dave Richards, president of the club:

"The members of the Grass Valley Sportsmen's club, upon hearing that certain preparations were under way within your church to help you celebrate your 25th wedding anniversary thought to take advantage of the opportunity to join in, and endeavor to show you a little of our appreciation of you both.

"Since you, Reverend Washburn have been in Nevada county, you have endeared yourself to every real sportsman. Your attitude is not one of alofness from your fellow men. In fact, ye have never known a minister of the gospel who has as wholeheartedly joined in the sports and sport activities as you have. You have not only joined in with us, but have showed us the way. There is not a sportsman but admires your uncanny ability with rod, reed. You are in that regard the ideal of every youth in the community.

"In the establuishment of a shooting gallery and maintenance of the same for several years, you did much for the youth of Grass Valley and Nevada City in teaching them not only marksmanship but the care and proper and safe handling of firearms.

"In the Grass Valley Soft Ball League, you not only entered a team from your church, but yourself captained and pitched for your team and it was no fault of yours that you were on two occasions nosed out for the city championship. In fact, it was, we believe, through your influence that a number of years ago the local soft ball league was organized and in recognition you were elected president of the league.

"It is like a legend among the hundreds of sportsmen, your great physical strength, your deadly marksmanship with the rifle, your willingness and ability to carry the load—but lest you think our appreciation ends there, let us assure you, that from many angles—your speech making at our annual campstews, your beautifully worded eulogies for departed comrades, in all the varied contacts, our estimate of you is that of sportsman, orator, gentleman and scholar. This estimate of you goes far beyond our club and far beyond your own church group.

"May we extend to you and your lovely wife our earnest felicitations on this 25th anniversary of your wedding, and may we ask you to accept this wift as a small token of our great esteem."

Pieces of silver were given by Trinity vestry, Trinity Altar Guild, Trinity Guild. St. Agnes Guild, Emmanuel Vestry, Emmanuel choir, St. Catherine's Guild, as well as gifts from individual members of the parish and friends outside the church.

Those assisting Mrs. Washburn during the evening were Mrs. E. M. Rector, Miss Margaret Rector, Miss Betty Bettles, Mrs. Emaline Williams. Mrs. Kate Smitham and Miss Kate Curtis.

A charming program was presented by Mrs. Oakley Johns. Those taking part were Emmanuel choir, Mrs. L. V. Dorsey, Mrs. Gertrude Heather, Mrs. Melita Hutchinson, Messrs. A. Prisk, D. Meeker and Master Wayne Foote.

During the evening the Rev. Washburn answered the many felicitations and congratulations in happy humorous vein. He claimed that he was first attracted to his wife when she made eyes at him as a member of his Sunday school class, but that he really won her by his baseball pitching and other athletic stunts on the college campus.

The Rev. and Mrs. Washburn have been in the Nevada City and Grass Valley parishes for seven years, coming to this county from St. John's, Michigan. They formerly had been in missionary work in Alberta, Western Canada.

St. Catherine's Guild has only recently completely carpeted the drawing and dining rooms of the rectory and the hall, and redecorated them. The kitchen has also been given a thorough renovation by the guild with washable material covering the walls.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Returning from a visit in the valley, William A. Dolinar, driving a car in which was his sister, Miss Agnes Dolinar, and a friend, Miss Frances Gliko, ran into the abutment of a bridge in the vicinity of the Gautier ranch. Miss Gliko was killed and he and his sister badly injured. Holmes ambulance brought the two injured to Jones Memorial hospital. The accident occured at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. A coroner's inquest will be held this morning.

COOKING SCHOOL COMING TO NEV. CITY NEXT WEEK

Sponsored by the state organization, the fourth annual cooking of Home Owned Businesses of California, Inc., will be held under the auspices of the Nevada County Unit in Nevada City, September 21 and 22, Grass Valley September 23 and 24, and in the demonstrations will be under direction of Miss Berdine Phillips, home economics expert

Miss Phillips is not only a great teacher but a great saleswoman, as evidenced by the thousands of California housewives who attended the schools last year and became conscious of the importance of making their purchases in home owned stores. Through the courtesy of local independent merchants who are members of home owned businesses, admission tickets will be distributed free. Aside from the wonderful cooking demonstration free recipies will be distributed in addition to many door prizes.

Housewives who attend the demonstration September 24, will come away rich in the knowledge of the epicurean art. It goes without saying that thousands of new friends among the housewives will be won over to the independent cause. Tickets are available at all Home Owned business concerns whether it be grocery, hardware, dry goods or shoe stores.

PLACER JUNIOR COLLEGE NOTES

Miss Mary Lou Draper of Nevada City was elected social commissioner of the Placer Junior College student body last week.

The freshmen class will elect their officers today. The sophomore class elected officers last week. Mervin Doolittle of Nevada City was elected vice president.

Football practice has started with the following Nevada City boys out for positions: Mervin Dooltitle, Ray Wilde, and Matt Burgan. The junior college reserves will meet Nevada City here in a few weeks.

Approximately 175 students are attending this institution now and 40 ride back and forth on the Colrax-Grass Valley-Nevada City bus.

The social event for this week will be the freshman initiation this Friday.

Free Clinic For All Crippled Children

A free diagnostic clinic for crippled children will be held in Nevada City, Wednesday, September 15, at the Washington Elementary School.

This clinic which is part of a statewide program for care of crippued children is to be held under the auspices of the State Department of Public Health in cooperation with the county school and health departments.

Dr. Walter M. Dickie, Director of Public Health, has appointed Dr. Don King, orthopedic specialist from Stanford Hospital, to examine all crippled children under twenty-one years of age who are admitted to the clinic. Any child may attend the clinic who is suffering from such physical handicaps as weakness of muscles due to infantile paralysis, diseases of the bone, club feet, curvature of the spine, severe cases of flat feet, deformities due to accidents, disfiguring scars due to burns or accidents, birth injuries, cleft palate, harelip and crossed eyes not correctable by glasses.

Miss Janet Margaret Wood, Chief of Crippled Children Services, will be in attendance and direct a group of assistants, including nurses, medical social workers and local volunteers. This clinic is for diagnosis only, but advice will be given and arrangements will be made for further care for those children whose parents are unable to povide treatment. Miss Wood urges that all handicapped children attend this clinic, as children whose conditions are diagnosed early and treatment started have a good chance of being cured and taking their places in society as normal, useful citizens.

Dr. Carl P. Jones, Health Officer, and Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, county nurse, are in charge of arrangebents locally, and any one knowing of a crippled child may report the name and address to them.

It is urged that the rural districts especially be canvassed so that all parents of crippled children may be made aware of this opportunity for diagnosis.

Local physicians who desire to bring patients for consultation are invited to do so.

BIG PEAR CROP IN CHICAGO PARK AND PRICE GOOD

The Chicago Park section has had this year a splendid fruit crop. The Pacific Fruit Co. packing shed in that district has shipped 44 cars of pears up to September 10. It is expected ten more car loads will be shipped from there before the season closes.

There are 680 boxes to the car and this totals 37,000 boxes for the season. Prices last week averaged around $2.75 per box and $3.30 for number one fruit.

The plum harvest started last week with prices ranging from $1.-60 to $2.00 per crate. The apple harvest will start shortly. Outstanding varieties are Jonathan, King David and Delicious. At the state fair in Sacramento this year Nevada county received third sweep stakes for apples, was awarded first prize for King David apples, ad second prizes for Jonathan and Delicious varieties.

The Pacific Fruit shed in Chicago Park employs 45 people. Ray Rossi is foreman.

COLFAX ROAD IS BEING IMPROVED

A $15,000 project is being completed by the highway maintenance crews under the supervision of Superintendent Ed W. Willis of Placerville, on the Grass Valley-Colfax road which is his territory. A 3-inch wearing surface is being applied to the present road.

Superintendent F. R. Garrison will do the same work on the road between Rough and Ready and Grass Valley, beginning September 20.

SON VISITS RIDGE WHERE SIRE WAS BORN

Paul D. Daly, one of the five thousand employed in the government printing office in Washington, was a visitor in Nevada City Friday. He was on his way to visit his father's birth place on San Juan Ridge. His father, William (Bill) P. Daly left the Ridge years ago when he was a young man and now resides in Seattle where he is in the automobile business. Many of the old timers of North San Juan remember him. His son, Paul, was given the names of several of the older residents of the Ridge and intended to look them up during his stay there.

HIGHWAY STAFFS TO MEET

The state employees of the Peach Bowl chapter will meet in Chico Saturday night. They will be the guests of Superintendent O. F. Georges and his maintenance crews of Chico. Entertainment and dancing will be provided with refreshments. A business meeting will be held with F. R. Garrison of this city presiding.

FEDERAL MONEY TO MAKE BETTER COUNTY ROADS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 13.—Thirty-four California counties are to receive direct benefits during 1937 and 1938 for construction on approximately 250 miles of county roads, estimated to cost $1,650,000. Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly announced today. Improvements to be made under this program will be financed from Federal funds apportioned to California supplemented by county funds.

Included in the amendment by Congress of the Federal Aid Highway Act in June, 1936, was not only the continuation of regular Federal aid for state highway work in the several states, but also provision for federal assistance in the improvement of feeder highways. The funds for this last purpose were authorized for appropriation in an amount of $25,000,000 for each of the fiscal years ending June 30, 1938 and 1939. The apportionment to the states of the 1938 funds allocated $971,644 to California.

The work will be carried on cooperatively between the counties, the State Division of Highways and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, with the direct supervision under the State Highway Department. The Federal funds will be matched by county money.

Rules and regulations governing the administration and expenditure of these funds which were promulgated by the United States Bureau of Public Roads early this last spring, were given intensive study by the Division of Highways before proceeding with the formation of the feeder road construction program to be financed with this Federal money. The regulations clearly indicated the intent of the government to provide improvement to so-called "farm to market" and "mine to market" roads of a distintcly rural character which feed from rural communities to an improved highway system.

PHEASANT IN GARDEN

Edd Addington of this city upon going out in his garden at "the Castle" on Prospect Hill beheld a beautiful male pheasant eating clover on his lawn. His first thought was a picture but the bird became restless and it was found a large house cat was also closely watching the bird. Presently it disappeared into the nearby thicket, escaping the camera and cat.

GOLDEN CENTER MINE

Reports are that plans are being made for a 90 foot all steel head frame for the Scotia shaft on the Golden Center mining company ground. It is located west of Grass Valley and understood that in time the Scotia shaft will be the main operating shaft for the property.

Mrs. Carl Johnson and two nieces, Misses Betty and Lois Held spent last week end in Alleghany. While there they enjoyed attending a dance.

NEVADA COUNTY REUNION HELD IN MOSSWOOD PARK

The Nevada County reunion held in Mosswood Park, Oakland last Saturday brought together a group of about 500 persons from the bay district, Nevada City, Grass Valley, North Bloomfield, Rough and Ready Sacramento and Marysville. All registered under their city's name and happy were the reunions of friends some of whom had not seen each other in 40 or 50 years.

Speeches were made by Judge George L. Jones, of Nevada City, George Carson, Grass Valley, Byron Powers, assistant state's district attorney, formerly of Nevada City, and several others.

Among those from Nevada City attending were Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, Ed Baker, Judge George L. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Eden, who were enjoying the week end in the bay district attended for the first time and had a splendid visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. Hieronimus, of this city who are visiting in the bay district also were present.

This is the 22nd Nevada county reunion. Placer county was also enjoying a reunion in a portion of the same park.

NEWLY MARRIED PAIR BUILD COSY HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Sandow, who were married this spring, are building a cozy little home on the Garwood property at the end of Park avenue. Mrs. Sandow was the former Miss Vlolet Garwood. The new home is composed of four rooms, bath and wash room and is well on the way to completion. The house is just back of the beautiful fish pond on the Garwood estate and on the slope near the front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Garwood in a beautiful location overlooking Nevada City. Mr. Garwood and Verne Sandow are building the house.

HI GIRLS CAN LEARN TO COOK

The economics class at the Nevada City high school is fortunate in receiving a new set of reference books. Among the best ones are: "Your Home and Family" by Graves and Ott, "Boston Cooking School' by F. Farmer, "Textle Fibers" by Ray Hess, "Home Economics Omnibus" by Harris and Huston, "Food Products" by Sherman and "Elementary Home Economics" by Mathews. For the first time the girls of Nevada City will be able to practice cooking. Miss McKnight, the instuctor is making arrangements for utensils and supplies and in a short time the girls will be able to prepare wholesome and delicious food.

WORKOUTS GIVEN FOOTBALL MEN

Football under Coach Barron has resumed with vigor and vim. Practice was started when school commenced and the boys are beginning to line up in fine shape. Some of the boys who have been industriously pacticing and probably will make the "A" squad are: Cliff Hoff, Melvin Clark, Dan Bosworth, Elgin Pingree, Reggy Kennedy, Eddie Doolittle and George Williams. The first game is scheduled for September 24 with Placer junior college and the next one to be played is with San Juan in October 2. Although Nevada City high school has a light team, they are good fighters.

Employes of the Alpha Stores of Grass Valley and Nevada City were given a fine treat and outing Saturday and Sunday by the company. They went to Alleghany, had dinner at the Alleghany hotel, danced in the community hall, to which festivity all the people of the community were also invited. Following breakfast the next morning they went down to the Oriental mine where they enjoyed a big picnic lunch.

Buy Where You Live

A community can be as red-blooded, its cash registers can hum just as lustily, as its citizens want.

But too often the town's barbed tongued skeptics forget this when they sit back to sigh. "things aren't so good." Even people in general are prone to forget there's a direct connection between a lack of punch and vim in local prosperity and the fact that they must hustle off cityward to do their buying.

Besides, out-of-town spending is a useless hangover habit from the past. Progressive merchants have brought big city bargains into every community. They contribute to local prosperity in wages, rent, light, and employment.

Your town is what your purchases make it. Buy at home —then watch it grow!—Contributed.

Register!

H. G. Wells, the doughty British writer whose "Outline of History" proved that laymen will buy over a million copies of a history book if it's written intelligibly, has again taken up the cudgels in defense of one of his favorite theories—that modern education needs more light and less heat.

"We have no time to waste," he said the other day, "if our schools are not to go on delivering, year by year, fresh hordes of ignorant, unbalanced, uncritical minds, at once suspicious and credulous, easily baffled and easily misled, into the monstrous responsibilities of this present world. Mere cannon fodder and stuff for massacres and stampedes!"

Intelligent citizenship Wells has fought for, long and valiantly. Most of us believe in it. Most of us pay it at least lip service. Yet one of the prime functions of citizenship is voting, and how many of us take the trouble to exercise that right? Or remember that voting happens to be our birthright, only because it was won for us through centuries of bloodshed and struggle for the principle which asserts that every man should have a voice in his government?

Thousands of young Californians will be 21 on or before November 2. Thousands of older voters have either moved or permitted their registration to lapse. Let them register now, and exercise their first right as intelligent citizens!

Democracy will live only just so long as citizens nourish it with alert interest, and exercise their democratic privileges to the fullest!—Contributed.

Another batch of cookies for the school lunch. These are cut into squares after being cooked and that's a time saver.

Raisin Nut Bars

Two-thirds cup shortening.
One cup brown sugar.
Two eggs well beaten.
On-fourth cup milk or coffee.
One cup molasses.
Four cups pastry flour.
One teaspoon each, salt, cinnamon, ginger, cloves.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
One quarter teaspoon soda.
One cup nuts, chopped.
2 cups raisins.

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add eggs, well beaten, milk or coffee, molasses and about one cup of the flour. Beat well. Mix and sift remaining flour, salt, soda, baking powder and spices together, and add to first mixture. Add chopped nuts and raisins. Grease three eleven inch long pans and line bottoms with waxed paper. Spread cookie mixture evenly in the pans and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until firm and slightly browned. Cut in squares or bars when taken from oven and remove from pan while still warm.

SELBY FLAT ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dimond entertained their old friends. Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Harlow of Rialto, Southern California, Thursday and Friday of last week. It had been over ten years since they had seen each other, and the visit seemed all too short.

Mrs. Albion Cooley and Stanley Prickett of Fair Oaks and Mrs. Winslow Dimmick near Grass Valley were visitors at the Dimond home, Sylvan Lodge, Monday.

Eldon Williams found a large black widow spider which he thinks is the one that bit him recently. He caught it alive and sent it into Dr. Hummelt's office, who had treated him at the time. He also killed a large rattlesnake, last week.

Frank Szemanski, little son and his nurse are up from San Francisco. Mrs. Szemanski will come a little later. Mr. Szemanski is not feeling well and hopes a rest in the hills will do him good.

motion and is so pithily expressed that it is herewith reprinted.

LEGAL FRAUD

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings has repeatedly said, "Fraud, graft, and rackets cannot be PREVENTED until the Bar Association cleans house." J. Edgar Hoover says, "ORGANIZED rackets, frauds, and crime could not exist if it were not for some lawyers."

Both are definitely strong statements from men at the very head of the nation's crime machinery for CATCHING and PUNISHING, but neither has any "cause for action" until a crime is committed. They cannot lawfully catch and punish a man who has committed no crime by assuming that he INTENDED to do it—but it has been done.

No one can deny that there have been many nefarious mining schemes—many organized in law offices, no doubt.

For forty years it has been customary for busted business men and crooked promoters to rush into mining regions where they could stake out, or option a group of claims, without regard to value, just so they were "close enough in, to show on the map." The property would be ORGANIZED into a mining company, the owners deeding the property for large amounts of the stock in lieu of cash. THIS IS PERFECTLY LEGAL. Mr. Cummings and Mr. Hoover would say, "It couldn't be done without a lawyer." The organigers would then proceed to sell their own stock, pocketing the money and leaving the investors owning the property. This was LEGAL too. The promoters had merely sold out. The lawyer himself often took his pay from the proceeds of stock sales, or in stock which was unloaded along with that of the promoters. Hence, with every step "lawful" for getting other people's money, the CRIME CATCHERS resorted to the postal laws and regulations for punishment of LAWFUL FRAUDS. In doing this they have, at times, caught some well meaning promoters using the mails for financing exploration and preliminary developmetn of encouraging ore deposits.

The ORGANIZED method of selling worthless acreage brought disrepute, and sales resistance, up on the truly meritorious efforts to finance development and equipping of worthwhile ore deposits. Fear of being charged with a POSTAL FRAUD instead of a MINE FRAUD has deterred many from undertaking the financing of mining projects.

District attorneys have brought their actions and indictment upon preconceived ideas that all mines are worthless, and that all mining is fraudulent, EXCEPT THOSE THAT ARE PROFIT PAYING. To mining men it is a mystery how "those that are paying" could be "paying" with out going through the periods of development and equipping, but a jury of farmers or laymen is not difficult for a United States attorney to convince, provided that attorney for the defense is equally ignorant of mining, and does not know how to shift the burden of proof.

It is usually just as difficult for a D. A. to prove that a mine wouldn't be profitable if properly developed and operated, as it for the defense to prove it would be. Attacking the mineral values of the nation to stop embezzlements, misuse and waste of investor's money in dishonest schemes should be approached with caution.

Many a crook has escaped because the prosecutor didn't know his mining, and a few honest promoters have been convicted because the attorney for the defense had the same shortcoming. It takes more than knowledge of law to make a mining organization that will be profitable and equitable to all parties interested, or to show it in court.

In 1935 a promoter directed his lawyer to organize a mining company that would "get by" the securities laws and leave no possibility of arrest for fraud. The promoter knew he had a good property, told his lawyer he didn't need to misrepresent, and that he wanted it financed on the square. The attorney asked. "Are you a mining engineer or geologist?" The owner admitted he was neither. The attorney said, "You are safe, we'll build the organization around your engineer's report and let the Post Office Department and the S. E. C. knock his head down if you fail."—The promoter got another attorney and an able engineer. So far he has had no trouble.

In the summer of 1936 curiosity led me to accompany a Postal Inspector to a mining camp where he was to investigate a mining property. When we were parting he asked, "What do you think of that property?"

I replied, "Well, no one is going to send the MINE through the mail. It has a showing that might develop into something and if there is any fraud, it will be found in the city office, not up here in the mountains. Go back to the city, and find out how much money they are taking in and what they are doing with it. Maybe you will get on the track of something. Don't try to prove this prospect has no merit, because you can't do it. It may show plenty of ore if opened up. They may not be getting in enough money to make much progress, but that doesn't prove it is not honest effort. If the promoters are wasting or using up the money otherwise, and the mine is only 'bait' in a trap to lure investors money—that's up to the P.O. not the mining property.

Several years ago, I told the swearing clerk in court that I would tell the truth if the lawyers let me. To the judge's query I replied, "They object, often times, to the WHOLE TRUTH, and want little scraps of truth to make it mean what they want."

Later the P. A. asked if the mine in question wasn't a "pocket" mine. When I offered to answer his question if he would define a "pocket" mine he stormed, but the Judge held "the witness is entitled to know what you mean by the question." The P. A. insisted that I knew what a "pocket" mine was and I replied, "Perhaps I do, but you don't, nor does the jury, and I don't intend to answer 'Yes' or 'No' and let you define it to the jury afterwards."—As an attorney trying to carry his point he was more crooked than the promoters. — Witnesses following took the same stand and the jury disagreed—retrial dismissed.

The real nigger in the woodpile is that honest attorneys and mining engineers don't accept crooked promotion.

Fraud, graft, and rackets will exist so long as crooks can ORGANIZE while honest men MIND THEIR OWN BUSINESS. Seldom, almost never, is an attorney disbarred, unless the complaint comes from outside. Even so, a disbarred lawyer can make organizations, advise or head business or industries. Obligation likewise rests upon reputable engineers to prevent abuse and misuse of their own reports, but how can they prevent a turkish bath rubber, bartender, and a busted shoe merchant from writing "reports" or managing a company they organize?

Lacy Jones and Robert Proctor spent last week end with their folks here. They attend the University of California.

Alberta Watters has entered the Mount Saint Marys' business college.

THE SCIENCE OF DIVINE POWER

....By Peter B. Biggins, C. S. B. of Seattle, Washington
Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

In the Bible we find illuminating statements made by one who understood and used the power of God, of divine Principle, in a remarkable degree, Jesus of Nazareth .Listen to these striking words, as recorded in the twenty-eighth chapter of Matthew's Gospel. "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." It was his understanding of this spiritual power that enabled Christ Jesus to heal the sick, cleanse the sinning, raise the dead.

We read in the Gospel of Luke that on a certain Sabbath day Christ Jesus went into the synagogue and taught. By this time the Master had done some healing work in public, and these wonderful healings had attracted attention. The scribes and the Pharisees now watched him, to see whether he would heal on the Sabbath day, that they might be able to accuse him, according to their misconception of the Moasic law. Think of it! They were endeavoring to find an accusation against the great Master for healing hopeless disease on the Sabbath! Well, on this particular day there was in the synagogue a man whose hand was withered. Jesus knew what the scribes and the Phaisees were thinking and he said to the man with the withered hand. "Rise up, and stand forth in the midst." The man obeyed. He arose and stood forth. He utilized power to this extent—the extent to which he understood it, and was able to utilize it. Then Jesus said to those around him, "I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the Sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it?" So far as we can gather, he did not wait for an answer, but addressing the man said, "Stretch forth thy hand," Here again the man obeyed, "And his hand was restored whole as the other."

The scene now shifts to the second half of the nineteenth century. A woman who had been doing her best, by tongue and pen, to help humanity was lying ill. As she lay in pain, despaired of by physician and friends, she called for her Bible. Opening it, she read of one of the healings to which reference has been made, the healing of the man who was sick of the palsy. As she read, she felt the power of the ever present Christ, and was healed. Like the palsied man of whom she read, she arose and walked. She utilized the power which had been revealed to her. The woman was Mary Baker Eddy.

Like the man in Christ Jesus day, to whom reference has been made, she stretched forth her hand and accepted the revelation which came to her, and was healed. After several years of searching the Scriptures and impelled by the divine power which had healed her, she wrote the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

My friends, if we could draw back the curtain of today's history just now, and see the unnumbered thousands who have been healed, saved, blessed as a result of reading Science and Health, never again would we be able to doubt that the power of the ever present Christ is with us here today, operating mightily in Christian Science.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder how we ever lived
To grow up, you and I;
I wonder why in early youth
We didn't up and die.
Now we were rocked and sung to sleep,
Or spanked and put to bed,
They often kissed and fondled us—
My word, why aren't we dead!

I wonder how the children of former unscientific generations ever managed to muddle through; but they did, in fact myriads of them lived to become well preserved, hale and hearty, even venerable citizens of the communities, in which they lived.

Consider the handicaps; they were rocked, jiggled and teetered, trotted upon entertaining knees, fondled and made over by loving relatives, and in times of revolt beslippered by mother or escorted to the wood shed by dad. They drank uncertified milk and ate uninspected food; they were dosed with sulphur and molasses in the spring time, sun-bonneted in summer and encased in red flannel during the winter months. They were encouraged to come down with the measles, chicken pox, whooping cough and other childish maladies, and all unwittingly met the fiercest germs and microbes face to face. I can't understand how any of these children escaped the fate of the good—can you?

Very different methods are employed in rearing the modern child; take Cousin Marta's little daughter for instance; no one ever manhandles her, she runs by the clock and the daily routine is never disrupted. They have named her Orchid—imagine that—and taught her little reversable formulas which, it is confidently believed will keep her petals pure and unspotted through the years.

"I am sweet and lovely," she gravely informed me a few days ago, "lovely and sweet am I;" the last word struck a queer note and I stared in horror; the kitten which the child had been rather tormenting, had suddenly lashed out with unsheathed claws and Orchid was reacting with an old fashioned tantrum.

Was she disciplined, exhorted or anything? Not at all, she was psycho-analyzed and given metaphysical treatment. The cat? Oh, Marta trimmed its claws, and later sent it to the pound.

Old fashioned methods were indeed atrocious, but is there danger in going to the other extreme? Will some of these tenderly nurtured and aesthetically reared children turn out to be smug, colorless little human cabbages? Goodness I hope not!

I wonder why the fact that our "damn fool neutrality laws" cannot be enforced is so gratifying to Senator Johnson. We have so many laws in the same category; why not stack them neatly, label the pile D. F. Unenforcibles and gloat over them all at one and the same time?

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

P. G. & E. WILL REROUTE ALLEGHANY LINE

The P. G. & E. company is preparing to change the power line leading into Alleghany. Miles of line will be rerouted from the present right of way which extends over a portion of the ridge, down steep canyon walls and up over the mountains in a direct line. The new line will be longer but will be easier of access when snow is deep. In some instances poles are almost covered with snow and linemen have much difficulty in making repairs when they have to tramp over many feet of snow.

Camp headquarters will be established at Plum Valley Inn below Alleghany where a lot of supplies have been trucked ecently. It is expected work will be rushed to completion before snow falls.

The Nevada City high school gymnasium opened with the annual freshman reception last Friday. The dancers were both parents and high school pupils and all were pleased with the architecture and maple floor of the new gymnasium and realized the credit due to its designers.

Variety was added to the dance by having special dances, which included a slipper dance, boys' taps, girls' taps and also a grand march. Everyone enjoyed the evening.

Dinner Marks Birthday Celebration

Mrs. Alfred Heether, of the Grant and Heether lumber interests near Camptonville, entertained at a most delicious dinner Sunday honoring the birthdays of her husband and Mrs. A. Butz.

Five hundred was enjoyed during the afternoon with prizes being won by Mrs. Frank Meggers and Fred Butz.

Those present for the delightful party were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meggers, Camptonville; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butz, Celestial Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scheck, Nevada City; Mr. Koumer, Nebraska; W. O. Grant, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Heether.

Miss Marian Ford Weds Lawrence Cherry

At a beautiful and impressive service Saturday evening September 11 at six o'clock Miss Marian Ford of Martinez became the bride of Lawrence Cherry in the Congregational church in that city. Miss Sally Robinson cousin of the bride from Nevada City, was bridesmaid.

After the service about one hundred guests attended a reception at the bride's home. They received many lovely presents.

The charming bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. T. S. Ford of Nevada City.

The groom is an instructor in the University of Oklahoma at Norman, Okla. The newly weds left today for their new home where he will teach the coming term.

Those from Nevada City attending the pretty service were Mrs. T. S. Ford, Miss Savory Ford and Miss Sally Robinson.

SACRAMENTO ST. BOTTLE NECK SOON ELIMINATED

The work of moving back the gasoline pumps at the Plaza garage is rapidly being completed. It will make the entrance to Sacramento street on the Plaza about ten feet wider when finished. For many years the junction of Sacramento with the Plaza has been a good deal of a bottleneck. Though it is a big improvement in the street system, none of the city street crew is assisting in the work as was erroneously reported.

MANY DRUNKEN DRIVERS LOSE THEIR LICENSES

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9. — More than 23,000 original operators licenses were issued in July, to applicants in California, Paul Mason, chief of the Division of Drivers' Licenses, reported to Governor Merriam today.

"This number," Mason said, "represents twenty nine per cent of all applications issued by the Division for the month and apparently indicates that the number of persons learning to drive and the number of non residents entering California is steadily increasing."

Applicants who fail the test, Mason said, total 5,127, while 302 were definitely refused licenses. Instruction permits were issued to 4,370 persons who desired to learn to drive. Driving privileges of 941 people were suspended

DELHI MINE

Known to have produced rich returns in the past the magic name "Delhi Mine" idle for years due to heavy flow of water, always draws interest whenever mentioned. Within the last few weeks eight men have been employed to start development. A pumpman started unwatering the shaft and construction of a cook house is well under way. A mile long tramway carries men and supplies from the county road side down into a canyon where the mine is located. The property is owned by Louis Nonneman of Piedmont, interested in the Western Meat Packing company and sister. His late father owner and operator mined successfully until striking a heavy flow of water which his pumps could not handle. Peter tum Suden of the bay district is attorney for Mr. Nonneman.
